

Standardized tests are the key to unlocking a higher education. Without the right score(s) you may not be allowed into your desired school. Preparing for test day is one of the greatest challenges you face at the high school level.

ACT, SAT & PSAT/NMSQT

<http://www.actstudent.org/testprep/index.html> - Official ACT
Registration Site.

<http://sat.collegeboard.com/register/sat-dates> - Official SAT
Registration Site

<http://www.nationalmerit.org/nmsp.php> - Official PSAT/NMSQT Site

Some of these Web sites may require registration in order to gain access to the site. While most sites offer free registration, some charge the user a fee for more information. I do not encourage students to pay for access to these sites or services; they are listed because they contain valuable information which is accessible without incurring a fee. Web sites that guarantee more successful test scores should be viewed cautiously:

I just found this site last week that offers Tutoring for the ACT and other subjects - like math:

<http://www.wyzant.com/tutorsearchnew.aspx>

This is from Ms. Mizak's (Counselor) web site from

Kaplan: <http://teacherweb.com/MI/CabriniHighSchool/GuidanceOffice/apt9.aspx>

Schoolcraft College has ACT Prep workshops throughout the year:
